Begin a new life in the spirit

By WILLIAM L. TRIMYER
NEW LIFE IN THE SPIRIT
Lesson for September 30, 1984
Bible Study Passages: Romans 8:1-8, 33-39
INTRODUCTION

Once a believer "steps into" the Kingdom of God they encounter a new atmosphere of goals and expectations. The new Christian discovers that they soon begin to love the things they used to ignore and to despise those things they used to love.

The new Christian also discovers that the expectations of this new way of life are different from anything they have ever encountered. The Spirit continually works in the lives of people to bring about God's divine purposes.

You have heard and used the expression that God's spirit moves in mysterious ways. Just when we think we have life neatly packaged and in order, God may unravel us and point us in other directions.

The Holy Spirit is ever present to challenge and nurture the believer. Jesus said to his disciples and to us: "I will not leave you without a comforter. . . ." Jesus reassured his disciples and believers in every age that we will never be alone. In the dark pathways of life we can take comfort in knowing that Christ's Spirit is ever-present with us.

FREE IN THE SPIRIT [Romans 8:1-4]

When we proclaim our faith in Christ we are free from condemnation to walk in joy and love. Christ's forgiveness of sins frees us and makes us acceptable. This new freedom in Christ does not mean we shall never stumble into sin, but with the Spirit's help we shall recover.

The temptation to sin is always present. The opportunity to manipulate or take advantage of another person is always present. Selfish indulgence is likewise a temptation for the Christian. Ignoring the suffering and hunger around us will also confront us from time to time. The common sin of humanity is to attend for selfish desires. We need the Spirit to convict and help us choose the path of self-denial and service to Christ and to our brothers and sisters.

A NEW VISION [Romans 8:5-8]

Those who strive to live by the Spirit will seek what is good and pleasing in the sight of God. This means that the Christian focuses his/her attention upon concerns of the Spirit. It means adopting an attitude of giving rather than getting. It means caring for the needs of others rather than ignoring them. It means living more for others rather than only for self.

There are some who argue that to possess the Spirit is to somehow receive a "second blessing." This idea is repudiated by Paul. We receive the Holy Spirit upon our confession of Christ and our commitment to walk daily with him. The more we make ourselves available to the Holy Spirit, the more we shall respond in service and love to Christ.

HELD BY HIS HAND [Romans 8:33-39]

The Christians at Rome were accused of many things. Paul wrote to affirm them and encourage them on. He wrote to reassure Christians that salvation in Christ meant security for those who trusted.

The Christian is not without enemies. The "dark force" is ever seeking to penetrate our walls to get us to practice evil deeds. The pull to do that which is wrong is sometimes very strong. Help is available to us when we call upon God to strengthen us with his Spirit.

What is your response to the following questions:

1. What are the greatest temptations you face in your life?
2. How has your faith served you in difficult times?
3. What does the name Holy Spirit mean to you?

Dr. Trimyer is Chaplain at Burnham Hospital in Champaign, Illinois (WLYP).

WORSHIP

At Catholic Church

Learning continues

Our Lady of Peace Catholic Community will continue with the "Invitation" Learning Sessions on Tuesday, October 2, at 7 p.m. The pastor, the Rev. Richard Kirch, will lead the discussion which will again focus on "The Gift of Scripture".

This is an adult learning time designed to review the basics of the Christian journey of faith which begins with a relationship with Jesus Christ" said the pastor.

"The first session was very good, far more than I expected. Father Kirch pointed out that reading Scripture is not a 'person to written word relationship' but a person to person contact; the reader contacts the person of Jesus in Scripture" commented Brian O'Donnell.

"All Catholics and those interested in what Catholics believe should come to these sessions, it is a very relaxed good news sharing time", he continued.

Regular Sunday worship services are at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday and weekday services at 12:15 p.m. Friday. A special intercessory prayer and praise meeting is held at 1 p.m. each Sunday.

Help clean up water supply

You Can Help Clean Up Our Water Supply

Good News For Homemakers

Have you ever thought about the path that water travels as it moves from one place to another? Raindrops, oceans, reservoirs, rivers-all contain water that has been used and recycled, providing a constant stream of life. One of the detours water takes is through homes, where it washes clothes and dishes, cooks food, carries away waste, waters the lawn and you could name a thousand other chores.

Individuals can do many things that will assist in protecting the Chesspeake Bay and its rivers by using water more carefully. The Virginia Department of Agriculture Consumer Services has shared that list of things that you can begin doing to help protect our rivers and keep our enviroment from becoming polluted. Some of these examples are:

Wash your car on a grassy surface so water won't run unfiltered into storm drains or down your driveway.

Use low-phosphate detergents and household cleaners. (Become label readers in the supermarket or check a reputable consumer guide.)

When fertilizing your grass or garden, use no more than the correct amount. That goes for using pesticides and herbicides.

Use your dishwasher or washing machine only when fully loaded. Put kitchen grease in the trash, not in the sink or garbage disposal.

Pick up after your cat or dog instead of flushing its droppings into the ground or down the drive with a hose.

Dispose of paint, cleansers and other chemicals that are so helpful around the house properly. Do not flush these down the drain.

Use water saving devices on toilets and shower heads.

If you have a boat, use bio-degradable cleaners.

Mulch garden and rain spout gullies to reduce erosion.

Report sewer line breaks and septic system malfunctions immediately to your local health department.

Recycle used automobile oil.

Use common sense. You can help make our environment a cleaner one. Why not do your little bit?

If you have a homemaking question or problem, you may call 352-8244 or write P. O. Box 468, Appomattox, VA 24522. It is always a pleasure to hear from you and to help you.

American Cancer Society

Lynchburg plans program for children

The Lynchburg Unit of the American Cancer Society will begin an eight-week program for children and young people who have parents with cancer on Oct. 4.

The program will be conducted by Mrs. Penelope Salay and Lou Overstreet, both experienced youth counselors, and is to help these young people deal with the feelings and emotions they have concerning their parent with cancer and the impact of cancer on their lives.

The Board of Directors of the Cancer Society is very excited about this proposed program and feels that is has the potential to be a real benefit to the Lynchburg community.

The target age of the participants is 8 to 15 years, with the understanding that, because of the diverse maturity of these ages, the meetings of the program will be carried out with young people of similar ages and maturity. Obviously, each participant would require the full approval of a parent or guardian.

There will be an introductory meeting at the Community Room of River Ridge Mall on October 4, 1984 at 6:30 p.m. Following that, weekly meetings will be held for eight weeks at the Cancer Society headquarters on Atherholt Road.

If you have any questions about this course, please contact the American Cancer Society Office at 845-0973.
